IV. VOICE MEMOS / AUDIO RECORDINGS

The Voice Memos app contained a folder labeled "NOLA — Tourist Trap" with restricted-access setting. Following warrant-authorized bypass, 17 audio files dated 06/22/2025 through 10/04/2025 were recovered. Recordings are predominantly ambient bar-interior audio with male voices and the subject's own narrative annotations. Recordings appear to have been made surreptitiously during fieldwork for an investigative piece.

File VM-2025-10-04-014.m4a (14 min 02 sec, recorded 01:48–02:02 AM): Captures bar-interior ambient and identifiable male voices in conversation. Subject Thornton's own voice is heard at the 00:00 mark stating: "October fourth, the Rusty Anchor, just before two. Trent and Marco at the back. They've seen me."

Subsequent conversation (recorded at distance) includes a male voice identified by the investigative team via comparison with custodial recordings on 10/10/2025 as TRENT CORMIER, discussing payment arrangements involving "Anthony" and "the tourists" and instructing another individual to "deal with him." Full transcript is attached to this report as Exhibit DF-02-Audio-T01.

Forensic voice comparison was performed informally and as an investigative tool. Independent expert voice examination has been requested.

V. NOTES APP — "NOLA — TOURIST TRAP"

A locked Notes file titled "NOLA — Tourist Trap (working)" was recovered. Key extracted content (verbatim, dated entries):

09/14 — Source A: 'There's a guy named Trent at a Bourbon Street bar. Runs a supply business. Anyone who skims, he's got a crew that handles it.' Confirmation needed.

09/29 — Confirmed second-tier: Marco Pellegrino, prior battery, runs with Trent. Kyle Robicheaux on probation, may be peripheral. The August assault behind Marie's — three white males, no charges. Pattern.

10/03 — At the bar tonight. Trent is here. He looks at me too long. I'm gonna sit, watch, leave. Don't push. Editor knows where I am.

VI. LOCATION DATA

Apple Significant Locations and Google Timeline (Thornton maintained both) place the device at 712 Bourbon Street between 11:38 PM (10/03) and 02:25 AM (10/04), with subsequent stationary residence at the alley coordinates (29.9582° N, 90.0667° W) through device shutdown/seizure. No suspicious cloud-side device access was logged.
