[BEGIN INTERVIEW TRANSCRIPT — CONDENSED]

BROUSSARD: Ryan, I appreciate you coming in. Tell me about last night.

McCALL: Yeah, sure. We went to The Rusty Anchor. Me, Derek, Travis. Had some drinks. There was a little situation with Derek and some guy but it wasn't a big deal. I decided to leave early — I had to work this morning. I left the bar around 1 AM, went to my car on Conti Street, and I was just sitting there. I was a little drunk, didn't want to drive. I must've dozed off. That's when the police found me.

BROUSSARD: You left at 1 AM and went straight to your car?

McCALL: Yeah. Straight to the car.

BROUSSARD: Indoor surveillance shows you leaving through the back door at 1:18 AM. With Derek and Travis. Not at 1 AM.

McCALL: [shifts in chair] I might have the time a little off. I wasn't watching the clock.

BROUSSARD: And your phone — we've pulled your cell data. Your phone pinged a cell tower at 1:28 AM that covers the alley area behind The Rusty Anchor. That's not the tower for Conti Street where your car was parked. Your phone was in or near that alley at 1:28 AM.

McCALL: [visibly shaken, long pause] ...Cell towers aren't exact. It covers a wide area.

BROUSSARD: Ryan, a man is dead. He was beaten to death in that alley between 1:15 and 2:15 AM. Your phone put you there at 1:28 AM. You left through the back door with Derek and Travis, three minutes after Marcus Webb walked out that same door.

McCALL: [voice breaking] I didn't — look, I want a lawyer. I want a lawyer right now. I'm not saying anything else.

BROUSSARD: Interview suspended at 2:07 PM. Suspect invoked right to counsel.

[END INTERVIEW]

DETECTIVE NOTE: McCall was the most visibly distressed of the three suspects. His alibi (in car since 1 AM) is directly contradicted by both bar surveillance and cell tower data. The cell tower ping at 1:28 AM places him in or immediately adjacent to the alley during the assault window. His emotional state and voice breaking prior to invoking counsel suggest awareness of and distress regarding the severity of the situation.

Invocation of Counsel: 2:07 PM — interview terminated.
