| 2:48 AM | Travis Bell            | Derek Fontenot (CC visible)       | 'Don't say anything'        |
| 2:51 AM | Derek Fontenot         | Travis Bell / Ryan McCall (group) | 'I know. Don't worry.'      |
| 3:02 AM | Ryan McCall (outgoing) | Travis Bell                       | 'there are cops everywhere' |

II. CELL TOWER DATA ANALYSIS

Carrier records (obtained via warrant from T-Mobile) were analyzed for Ryan McCall's device. Tower pings are recorded for each call and data session. Relevant findings:

PING AT 1:28 AM (October 4, 2025): McCall's device connected to Cell Sector ID #NOLA-BRB-04, a T-Mobile cell sector located on the rooftop of 725 Bourbon Street. This sector's coverage area includes the 700 block of Bourbon Street and the alley behind it — the crime scene area. The sector does NOT include the Conti Street parking area (two blocks away) where McCall's car was found. McCall's claimed location ('in my car on Conti Street since 1 AM') is CONTRADICTED by this cell tower record.

DEREK FONTENOT CALL TO McCALL AT 1:14 AM: The 1:14 AM incoming call from Derek Fontenot to McCall lasted 1 minute 38 seconds — occurring one minute before the alley camera shows Marcus Webb exiting through the staff door (1:15 AM), and four minutes before all three suspects exit the same door (1:18 AM). This call is consistent with Fontenot coordinating with McCall to follow the victim.

III. TEXT MESSAGE ANALYSIS — TRAVIS BELL TO DEREK FONTENOT

The text message from TRAVIS BELL to DEREK FONTENOT at 2:48 AM — 'Don't say anything' — was sent approximately eight minutes after the PBPD dispatch call was received (2:40 AM) and six minutes before Officer Thibodaux arrived on scene (2:47 AM). This demonstrates that Bell was aware a body had been discovered and was actively coordinating a silence strategy with Fontenot. This is consistent with consciousness of guilt.
